PRIVACY POLICY

Alexandria School may use your IP address and other non-personally identifiable information to compile website user statistics and administer its website.

If you provide Alexandria School with personally identifiable information, such as but not limited to information e-mailed to it or submitted via forms on this website, Alexandria School may share this information with third-party persons or entities, including but not limited to nanny or newborn specialist candidates; families; legal, tax or payroll service providers; and banks, credit card or other financial service companies to process your payment for services. Such "personally identifiable information" may include but is not limited to names, addresses, and other contact information, employee or employer preferences, employment information and references, and financial data including but not limited to credit card or other payment information.

If an individual who uses or visits this website wishes to review or request changes to any of his or her personally identifiable information, he or she may contact Alexandria School to request a review or change.

Consumers will be notified of any material changes to Alexandria School's privacy policy via an alteration to the policy on this page of its website. This policy is effective as of August 10, 2008.
